GERMAN INDUSTRIAL CITY DEVASTATED BY RAF BOMBERS

Furious Fighting Rages Within 100 Miles of Mandalay

Heinkel Airplane Factory Undergoes Second Big Assault

BY ROGER G. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor
Germany's great Heinkel aircraft works at Rostock came under explosive assault by RAF bombers last night for the second night in row, the London air ministry announced today, and British sources pictured the Baltic city as virtually left in ruins.

Aside from the Heinkel works, Rostock served as a major Nazi base for pouring troops and supplies into the Russian campaign. British authorities said "the greatest weight of bombs" in RAF history was dropped on Rostock in Thursday night's attack, leaving it even worse battered than Luebeck, twice its size. Luebeck hit just once with the full force of the new RAF bombing power on March 2, was said to have been 40 per cent devastated. Other British night raiders pounded the locks at historic Dummerke, and bombed Nazi airfields in France and the low countries. The German high command announced that Nazi bombers, striking "in reprisal" for the RAF's raids on German towns, heavily attacked the cathedral town of Exeter, England, midway between Plymouth and Bristol.

MUCH DAMAGE INFLICTED ON HISTORIC CITY

Nazi Dive-Bombers Scream Down on South Coast City Killing at Least Twelve

AMOUS SCHOOL HIT

London, April 25.—(P)—Nazi bombers screaming down from moonlit skies shortly after midnight last night heavily attacked south coast city, killing at least 12 persons and leaving hundreds homeless amid the wreckage caused by a rain of high explosives and firebombs. The town was not identified immediately, but the German high command communique, reporting reprisal raid on southeastern England, said Exeter was bombed heavily. The British said one of England's most famous schools was damaged. Exeter, city of 70,000 midway between Plymouth and Bristol, is the home of a famous grammar school founded in 1629. Three men including two firefighters, were killed by a bomb which fell in a church yard in the wreckage of a house nearby. 19-month-old twins were found buried in debris but only slightly injured. A London couple who took their own advice and came visiting for the weekend died in the wreckage of one home. Even after dawn the attack continued spasmodically. Three Nazi fighter planes sprayed a beachfront with bombs and machine-gun bullets, killing one man and wounding another.

LATE WAR BULLETINS

Allied Headquarters, Australia, April 25.—(P)—Allied headquarters announced today that the fighter planes defending Port Moresby successfully intercepted in sanguinary combat seven Japanese "zero" fighters which raided the New Guinea port yesterday.

New Delhi, India, April 25.—(P)—An American air service employing both private and U. S. Army facilities is supplying China from India today with an increasing stock of essential military goods since carried over the Burma Road. Melbourne, April 25.—(P)—A Royal Australian Air Force officer said today British army authorities officially credited his Hudson bomber squadron with killing 15,000 Japanese in seven and a half hours during one Japanese attempt to land in Malaya.

Shortwave Propaganda Drive To Help War Effort Launched

Philadelphia, April 25.—(P)—From the tower of Independence Hall, the American Philosophical Society has begun its own battle to bolster the war effort—a shortwave propaganda campaign keyed by the inscription on the Liberty Bell. "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land and unto the inhabitants thereof." Dr. Robert A. Millikan, president of the California Institute of Technology, declared in the first of the broadcasts yesterday that after the war the human race is going to live "either under the Atlantic charter or under the Gestapo and the brutalities of Mein Kampf." The broadcast, which opened with the tower chiming and a reading of the inscription, was beamed to Europe, South Africa and Australia.

The society announced that U. S. Attorney General Francis Biddle and Vice President Wallace will speak on other broadcasts. The addresses, transmitted by Station WRUL in Boston, will be translated and beamed to Nazi-occupied countries.

TIGHTENING IS DIRECTED IN 3-A CLASS

New Draft Classification for Last Group Is Set Up By National Headquarters

MILLION TO REGISTER

Chicago, April 25.—(P)—The selective service system has set up a new draft classification for the last group which might be sought for military service—men who have dependents and are engaged in work essential to war production or to the war effort. Regulations establishing the new classification—3-B—also set forth that men who have acquired dependents since the nation went to war would not be deferred because of them. The revision was announced by Col. Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois selective service director, last night, while in Champaign, Ill., an army staff officer outlined a new plan to enroll college students as reservists and train them as officers while continuing their academic work. He said no 3-A men would be taken until after the supply of registrants who are available for military service under present standards were exhausted.

Harrisburg, April 25.—(P)—Selective service local boards, busy filling the state's largest quota for military duty, today were instructed to effect a general tightening up of 3-A classifications and to ignore any dependency status acquired since Dec. 8.

A four-page memorandum from state headquarters called for setting up a new class to be called 3-B and including men who have family and occupational deferment. An spokesman explained this would give boards a chance to draw "more heavily" on Class 3-A which hereafter will include only dependency men.

The move resulted from a new interpretation of selective service regulations because of a growing demand of the armed forces for men. In opening up 3-A classifications to boards, officials took note of a move in congress to provide financial help for dependents of those called into service.

Pennsylvania has enrolled 1,940,000 for military service under the three registrations. Approximately 1,000,000 men from 45 to 65, headed by Governor James E. Keefe, will be signed up in the fourth registration next Monday.

James notified Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director, that the state's 422 Local Boards were ready for the registration to proceed.

Need of Gas For Farmers Is Emphasized

Harrisburg, April 25.—(P)—"A lot of farms will have to stop operations" if the farmer's use of gasoline is restricted, Miles Horst, secretary of the Pennsylvania State Grange, said today.

Committee is studying the problem now, he declared, and will report to the joint meeting of the State Council of Farm Organizations and the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives at State College May 7.

The secretary explained an average tractor uses two gallons of gasoline an hour and figured average consumption was 20 gallons for a ten-hour day.

Federal authorities are considering the gasoline rationing program with estimates of the allowable amount per person ranging from two and a half gallons a week to 50 gallons a month. Horst said, however, he expected a more liberal allotment to farmers somewhat on the order of the rules governing tire sales. The farmer is now allowed tires for his tractors and wagons, but has no priority for his automobile.

Horst listed the shortage of labor with federal restrictions on commodities as the most serious problems facing the farmer and said both would be thoroughly discussed.

The secretary said most of the discussions would concern the war's effect on agriculture, but excluding zoning of dairy farms. John Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, CIO, has been attempting to organize the dairymen, centering efforts in the six-state New York shield.

Interned Fliers Well And In Good Spirits

Kulibyshev, Russia, April 25.—(P)—Five United States airmen who made a forced landing on Soviet soil a week ago today are reported "well and in good spirits" under internment at Kabarovsk, the administrative center of Russia's Far Eastern area. Russians disclosed these details to supplement a Tass announcement yesterday that the Americans and their plane had been interned after landing upon maritime territory of the U. R. S. following a raid upon Japan.

Britain Sends A New Pledge To Australia

General MacArthur Participates in Celebration of Anzac Day

WAR DEAD HONORED

London, April 25.—(P)—Clement R. Attlee, secretary of state for dominions, declared today the United Nations are just beginning to gather the power which will prove that Japanese losses to date have been only a taste of what is to come.

In an Anzac day broadcast to Australia, Attlee pledged that Britain and the United States were standing solidly with the island dominions of Australia and New Zealand. He said help would flow more and more, and with unified strategy, would turn the tide on the Axis.

Hitler, he said, has erred as the Kaiser did by failing to understand the "invisible links which bind together the English-speaking nations all over the world."

In Melbourne, General Douglas MacArthur participated in Anzac Day services commemorating Australia's World War dead and Prime Minister John Curtin announced this cable from British Prime Minister Churchill:

"Greetings to you on Anzac Day. We will never forget the great comradeship of Gallipoli with its imperishable memories."

Without a speech or fanfare, MacArthur stood within a semi-circle of his aides—American, Australian and British.

St. Louis, April 25.—(P)—Pennsylvania authorities were en route to Erie, Pa., today with a 23-year-old suspect they took into custody last night on a warrant charging him with the holdup April 3 of Lloyd Wilkinson, 23, navy petty officer, who was found shot to death after the robbery.

District Attorney Burton R. Laub of Erie, and Pennsylvania Motor Police Sergeant C. M. Mathias said the suspect was arrested in St. Louis April 10.

ANOTHER SEA TRAGEDY

Hamilton, Bermuda, April 25.—(P)—After spending eight days in a lifeboat, 26 survivors of an Allied ship sunk by two submarines were brought into this port yesterday by a United States naval vessel.

Four other crewmen were reported lost. They were the third group of survivors, all from different ships, to be brought here since Wednesday.

GREAT LAKES U-BOAT

Milwaukee, Wis., April 25.—(P)—The first submarine ever built completely on the Great Lakes will be launched Thursday, April 30, as a Wisconsin shipyard, the navy announced today.

167 Warships Lost By Japs

(Note: This tabulation of Japanese losses since Pearl Harbor is based upon official announcements by the United Nations and Japanese official admissions.) Japan has lost a total of 167 warships and 49 commercial ships since the war began, Associated Press records showed today based upon official announcements by the United Nations and Japanese official admissions. Announced tonnages totaled 114,300 tons of warships and merchant losses totaled 130,667 tons. The figures represented only ships announced as sunk by either planes, submarines, naval action or mines. The largest number of Japanese ships lost were transports which totaled 74 and the next largest merchant vessels which totaled 44.

LESS SEVERE RATION ORDER ANTICIPATED

East's Motorists May Expect Quota to 30 to 50 Gallons Month, Officials Predict

TO BE FIXED BY ICKES

BY FRANCIS J. KELLY
Washington, April 25.—(P)—Congressional circles heard today that the east's 10,000,000 motorists could expect a gasoline ration of 30 to 50 gallons a month, rather than the 2 1/2 to 5 gallons a week previously estimated by a spokesman for the Office of Price Administration.

Rationing, made necessary by transportation difficulties, including the sinking of coastwise tankers by enemy submarines, is scheduled to begin May 15 in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia.

One lawmaker said he had been advised that the quota for private motorists would be fixed by Harold L. Ickes, petroleum coordinator, rather than by Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

If the punch-card limit goes as high as 50 gallons a month, the average car owner should feel little hardship. Officials of the American Automobile Association estimate that most automobiles use about 55 gallons every 30 days.

Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) declared Americans would cheerfully accept gasoline rationing if it would help win the war, but he said they want assurance it is necessary and that the rationing will be done "in a reasonable and equitable manner."

In testimony yesterday before a senate agriculture subcommittee, one of Ickes' aides, Ralph K. Davis, deputy petroleum coordinator, said that in "six months or so" it might be possible to relieve the eastern shortage. He told reporters later what he had in mind was not a substitute fuel, but use of alternative methods of transportation to avoid the dangers of moving the oil up the east coast by tank ships.

SCHOOL STUDENTS TO FIGHT FOREST FIRES

Ligonier, April 25.—(P)—Forest fire fighters who have been called into the nation's armed services will be replaced by school boys in the district of Forester V. M. Bear.

Bear reported about 750 students in his district—Westmoreland, Greene and Somerset counties—have been recruited and given examinations as fire fighters. During an emergency they would be released from classrooms and taken to fires in trucks. They will draw the usual fire fighters' pay of 40 cents an hour.

Relief Setup Is Changed By Job Openings

Harrisburg, April 25.—(P)—With the demand for labor growing rapidly in many parts of Pennsylvania, the public assistance department today clamped definite limits on the amount of relief that may be given to persons able to go to work.

The 67 county assistance boards were notified relief grants may be authorized for employable applicants "only after full exploration of the possibility of meeting the need by referral to employment, either directly or through other agencies."

Necessary aid provided in such cases, said the order, may not continue beyond one month without a review "to determine whether continued granting of assistance is necessary because of the absence of suitable employment opportunities at locally prevailing pay rates and whether additional steps can be taken to help him secure employment."

Assistance Secretary Howard L. Russell said the move was in line with general practices which already had been followed successfully by numerous local boards in areas where job openings are sufficient to insure that no employable person need be out of work for long.

Russell said that his department, in co-operation with other agencies, is endeavoring to find job openings and obtain relaxing of employer specifications for groups heretofore discriminated against because of race, national origin or advanced age.

Approximately 3,500 Men In County To Register Monday

Importance of Giving Correct Answers Stressed By Boards

SCHOOLS WILL CLOSE

It is expected that approximately 3,500 men in Warren county between the ages of 45 and 65 will go to schools and other registration points on Monday to enroll in the fourth Selective Service registration.

While those who register Monday will not be subject to military service, they will receive occupational questionnaires and may be used to provide manpower for war industries.

Members of the two local draft boards today stressed the fact that those who register should be very careful to give correct answers to all questions. In giving their age, registrants should give their last birthday. This registration includes all those born after April 28, 1877, and before February 16, 1897.

The correct address also is important, it was pointed out. On the second line of the registration form should be given the permanent address. This should include the street and number or the township in which the registrant lives. For the registration on Monday, all schools and liquor outlets will be closed. School officials and teachers are cooperating with the draft boards in the enrollment.

Hours of registration are from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. A large number of persons who will be unable to register on Monday visited the offices of the local draft boards this morning and signed the enrollment blanks.

SHORTAGE OF MINERS IN ANTHRACITE FIELD

Harrisburg, April 25.—(P)—A shortage of miners is developing in the eastern Pennsylvania anthracite fields because of the drain of the military draft and war industries, reports the industry's emergency committee.

The committee which administers program for weekly allocation of coal tonnage specifically cited conditions in the Pottsville area where the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company is making plans to replace lost labor. It quoted General Manager George Ross as saying during the past several months the concern lost nearly 250 men due to enlistments and inductions "and I feel we are liable to face a shortage of capable miners long before army requirements are filled."

This means that all these state canners have contracted in working with growers for the two canning vegetables, agreeing to pay the growers at least the minimum prices recently set by the board.

Both these vegetables are among the most vital products asked for in the food for freedom campaign to meet war needs. Pennsylvania canners contracted for approximately 5 per cent of their total capacity for canning tomatoes and 90 per cent of total capacity for peas.

New York, April 25.—(P)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt says that some "tactfully clever people" are spreading anti-labor propaganda among the nation's armed forces and she believes that labor and the American people should check such a move as a menace to a united war effort.

"There has been a decided propaganda drive against labor," she said last night at a Y. W. C. A. round-table discussion. "For the sake of our country, all of us should do all we can to beat that propaganda."

SUDDEN NEW PERIL ON THE BURMA FRONT

Chungking Communique Indicates Chinese-Held Flank in Imminent Danger

DEFENSE LINE BROKEN

New Delhi, India, April 25.—(P)—Burma's defenders faced a sudden new peril today as the Japanese, with an almost spendthrift use of manpower, pushed swiftly forward to within about 100 miles of Mandalay in furious and confused fighting.

A Chungking communique indicated the Chinese-held left flank either had been rolled back or was in imminent danger of being turned by the fast-striking Japanese.

A British communique today announced another air raid on Mandalay. It indicated that the front was fluid on the Chinese-defended side. The full significance of this burst of Japanese pressure aimed at Mandalay still is not apparent, but there is no doubt of the gravity of the situation for the Allies in Burma.

At worst, it means the overwhelmingly stronger invaders have turned the Chinese flank, thus swinging the United Nations' line on its Irrawaddy river hinge like a gate, and that the Allies will be able to restabilize the line, if at all, only with prodigious effort.

At best, it means that the Japanese, taking a leaf from the Germans, have shot out a powerful armored spearhead far beyond their foremost main line.

If this is true, it may mean that the Japanese have located a soft spot in the defense line, punched a hole through it, and driven their steel wedge into the breach as deeply as possible.

Then it would remain for them to follow up their advantage behind the heavy-hitting armored force or for the defenders to choke it off and reestablish their line before the enemy can develop the momentum he has gained.

London, April 25.—(P)—Twin Japanese thrusts on Mandalay and Lashio appeared to be developing rapidly today as the British army, after a brief respite, prepared to defend its last bases of resistance in Burma.

GROVE CITY BOY DIES OF A BULLET WOUND

Grove City, April 25.—(P)—Ten-year-old John Webster, of Grove City R. D. 3, died today in a hospital of a bullet wound in the abdomen suffered when he and his father were playin cowboy.

The father, James Webster, told police he was showing John how to twirl around his finger a 22 calibre revolver which he thought was unloaded and the gun went off the bullet striking the boy in the abdomen.

G. O. P. Insurgent Group To Be Neutral

Philadelphia, April 25.—(P)—The Republican "New Guard," an insurgent group organized to oppose the state committee, decided today to be neutral in the primary fight between U. S. Senator James J. Davis and Major General Edward Martin, candidates for governor.

The announcement was made by William H. Harman, Philadelphia industrialist, who rejected the New Guard support for the gubernatorial nomination and stayed out of the race. Harman said the group would leave its adherents free to support either Martin or Davis.

Davidson, the local pastor, will speak at the youth forum of the Jamestown church. Young people of the Warren church will enjoy an informal meeting and service at the Davidson home, 112 Fifth avenue, at 8:30 Sunday evening.

ARMY OPENINGS

There will be openings in the air corps, engineers, signal corps, infantry, cavalry, field artillery, coast artillery and armored force for men between the ages of 18 and 19, according to Sgt. Frank A. Crossy, sub-station commander at Erie. These openings will be available on the first day of May and will continue to the 29th of May. Men interested may apply at the Army Recruiting Station, Room 22, U. S. Court House, Erie, on any day except Sunday.

CANDLELIGHT SERVICE

On Sunday evening, starting at eight o'clock, the Luther League of St. Paul's Lutheran church will hold a beautiful candlelight service to which all members of the congregation and friends are cordially invited. Six candlelighters will participate in this fellowship service, representing the fields of service rendered by and through the young people of the Augustana Synod Luther League, of which the local unit is a part. Music during the ceremonial will be by Lois Johnson, soprano, and Mrs. Emil Jacobson, organist.

BOYS IN THE SERVICE

Private William J. Madigan is home to spend a ten-day furlough with his mother, Mrs. Lillian Madigan, 8 Orr Place.

Mrs. Irvin Kays has just received word that her husband, Sgt. Kays, has been promoted to the rank of first sergeant at Camp Livingston, La., where he is stationed with other Warren soldiers.

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Warren Man

Stricken with a heart attack while working at the plant of the DeLuxe Metal Furniture Company, Burton H. McConnell, of 223 Jefferson avenue, died very suddenly about 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mr. McConnell was working in the stock department of the plant at the time. According to information given to Coroner Ed C. Levey, no person actually saw him collapse but a fellow workman noticed him lying on the floor soon afterwards. A physician who was called pronounced him dead.

For many years Mr. McConnell was a salesman in local clothing stores, having been employed at various times in the Woodard, O'Dell and Printz Company stores.

He was a veteran of the first World War, having enlisted at Erie on March 24, 1918. He served as a corporal of the 45th Company at Fort Baker. He was discharged on November 15, 1918, at Camp Sheridan, Ohio.

He is survived by his wife, Bertha, and four brothers, Charles McConnell, of Clarendon; Arthur McConnell, of Coburn Park road; William McConnell, of Chicago, Ill.; and Robert McConnell, of Hubbard, Ohio.

Removal was made to the Lutz Funeral Home, where friend may call at any time. Funeral services will be held there at 2:30 p. m. Monday, with interment in Oakland cemetery.

Barney, 18 Horton street, Sheffield.

Cigarettes are wholesaled in boxes of 500 each in Ireland and sold loose by retailers due to shortage of paper, the Department of Commerce says.

The Republic of Panama is endeavoring to maintain the retail price of chickens at a maximum of $1.80, the Department of Commerce reports.

Consumer purchasing when contrasted with income payments evidences that the American public is saving money, according to the Department of Commerce.

Tenth Anniversary Observed By North Warren Pastor, Wife

Approximately 150 members and friends gathered in the North Warren Presbyterian church Friday evening to extend best wishes to the Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Cruickshank, who took up their duties in that parish ten years ago yesterday.

All organizations within the church cooperated in planning and carrying out details for the party for which James E. Hazeltine was a capable master of ceremonies. Group singing led by Russell Dietsch and Boyd Sanden set the tempo for a happy evening and vocal solos by Miss Constance Dey were much enjoyed.

Dr. T. E. Colley, minister of the First Methodist church here, talked very interesting on the duties of a minister toward his congregation in a small community and of the parish's responsibilities toward him. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cruickshank responded with appreciative remarks following the presentation of a gift from the assembly.

To conclude, refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

Local Class In Nutrition Is Arranged

Announcement is made today that the proposed Red Cross course in nutrition will hold its organization meeting next Thursday, April 30, at 7:30 p. m. in the Y. W. C. A. activities building.

Miss Arlene Schure, county home economics advisor, has been engaged as instructor. She would like to arrange for two classes weekly, with 30 members in each class, and any additional person interested in the project is asked to call Red Cross headquarters, 2926, at once for enrollment.

A meeting date for class instruction will be decided upon at Thursday's session and other details of the project arranged. Proper nutrition for the home forces as well as those in the armed service has been stressed as one of the most important factors in the civilian defense program and every homemaker and community leader is urged to take advantage of this opportunity.

Outstanding Floor Show Is Presented

One of the most outstanding floor shows to be presented at the Marconi Outing Club in many weeks is that which concludes its engagement over the week-end.

Headlining the bill are the Noveltees—Thelma and Jack Roland, Carol Howard and Lee Slade—who present a program of singing, dancing, comedy and impersonations. So diversified is their act that they have a complete revue in themselves.

Also on the program are Elaine Castle, attractive songstress, and Jim Penman, the "gabby trickster" who keeps his audience in a constant uproar.

These acts conclude their engagement at the Marconi Outing Club tomorrow night.

RELIEF PAYMENTS

State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner reported that direct relief payments made to needy residents of Warren county during the week ended Thursday show a decrease of $13 from those of the previous week. Payments for the week totaled $157, which was $1.731 lower than those of the comparable week of last year.

PUBLIC INSTALLATION

Warren Commandery, No. 63, Knights Templar, will have a public installation ceremonial in the Masonic Temple at 7:30 p. m. Monday, in charge of W. Pitt Gifford, of Erie, who is grand captain general of the Grand Chapter of Pennsylvania. The rites will be preceded by dinner at 6:15 p. m. All Masons and their ladies are cordially invited by Warren Commandery to be present.

All-County Music Festival Is Being Held Here This Evening

The doors to Beatty gymnasium will open promptly at seven o'clock this evening for the concert which marks the first all-county music festival and it is anticipated that a full house will greet the 300 young people who will participate. The following detailed program is announced today for the concert which starts promptly at 7:30 o'clock:

In Apollo's Temple and Air de Ballet from "Alceste" by Gluck; Progress of Youth by Herfurth; Sugar Grove Orchestra directed by Ardath Chandler.

Negro spirituals—Steal Away, with Dorothy Ann Harris as soloist; and Joshua Fit de Battle ob Jericho, with Norman Shoaff as soloist—Warren High School Choir directed by Carroll A. Fowler.

Amaryllis by Ghys and Le Secret by Gautier—Pleasant, Mead and Glade Township Rhythm Band directed by Betty Mason; Cottonpicker's Song and Victory

Overture by Charles Roberts—Russell High School Band under direction of Melvin Bennett.

Amaryllis by Ghys and The Lamb by Chadwick—Tidoute High School Girls' Chorus with Elizabeth B. Bostress as director. Andante from The Surprise Symphony by Haydn and Schumann's Slumber Song—Youngsville High School Orchestra directed by Byron Swanson.

The Lost Chord by Sullivan and Dream of Summer from Lehar's Merry Widow Waltz—Sheffield High School Girls' Chorus with Marion Peterson directing.

Spring Morning, Czech folk song; Pretty Minka, Russian folk song; The Goose Girl, Czech folk song; Mead, Glade and Pleasant Township Grade Chorus directed by Betty Mason.

First movement from Haydn's Second Symphony and Tales from The Vienna Woods by Strauss—Warren High School Orchestra directed by Harry A. Summers.

Senior Class Play Very Well Received By Large Audiences

Another enthusiastic audience assembled in the high school auditorium Friday evening to acclaim the senior class play, "Ever Since Eve," light comedy by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements.

A well chosen cast of 15 students took part in the three-act play, offered on Thursday and Friday nights to capacity houses, stellar roles filled by Martin Smith, Melvin Greenwald, Beverly Milway and Jean Martin.

Capably handling supporting roles and playing major parts with the success of the comedy, were the following: Jean Cannon, Leon Christensen, Lois McCloskey, Charlotte McComas, Richard Rapp, James Shortt, George Phillips, James Horton, Ben Taylor, James Plateroti and Corwin Skillman.

At the conclusion of the second act, Melvin Greenwald presented a gift to Mrs. Anna Louise Kahl, who capably directed the play, and expressed the sincere appreciation of the senior class and the cast for her untiring efforts.

Miss Kahl paid tribute to Bernice Way, business manager for this year's class production, who has done a remarkable piece of work in taking care of the small and odd, but very important, jobs that must be done to successfully produce such a play as this.

Annual Luncheon Of Interdenominational Group Is Announced

The fourth annual luncheon of the interdenominational mission study group will be held at the First Presbyterian church on Thursday, May 7, at one o'clock. Mrs. W. L. Arnold will preside and Mrs. L. E. Nason will conduct a short business session.

The guest speaker will be Mrs. Norman Beals of Franklin, who spoke before this group a few years ago and whose message was one of the most appealing and convincing ever heard by a Warren audience. The committee is most fortunate in having the opportunity of bringing Mrs. Beals to Warren again.

The luncheon last year held in the First Baptist church was attended by nearly 200 Warren women, representing twenty churches, and it is expected that the number will be exceeded this year with Mrs. Beals as an added attraction.

The ticket chairman is Mrs. Lewis Elder, 210 Water street, phone 1776-R. Presidents of the missionary societies of affiliated churches are asked to act as chairmen of tickets for their respective groups.

O. E. S. Drama Club Enjoys Entertainment

Last evening, over 50 members of the Order of Eastern Star Drama Club enjoyed a social time at the Masonic Temple, feature of entertainment being two short plays.

The cast for "The Losing Battle" included Edith Ahlquist, Marie K. Leuthold, Cynthia VerMilyea and Mabel Smith. This lively take-off on modern diet aids was highly entertaining.

The second play was a one-act comedy with ten women meeting to sew and providing much amusement by their conversation. The cast included Helen Braunschweiger, Nettie Lemmon, Viola McLaughlin, Mary Walsh, Medna Cannon, Ethel Callard, Jessie Baisstow, Margaret Gleese, Grace Schuler and Louise Hampson.

Red, white and blue appointments were used for the refreshments table, with flag-trimmed, small pup tents as favors. Charlotte Turner, Mrs. Leuthold and Mrs. Ahlquist, as co-chairmen, arranged and supervised the affair and were commended on the success of the evening. Other members of the committee were Mary Black, Lotta Colt, Marian Keiser, Helen Kridler, Mary Rawley, Mrs. Ruby Meddock and members who presented the plays.

County Federation Session Scheduled At Sheffield On 29th

The Sheffield Woman's Club will be hostess for the spring meeting of the Warren County Federation of Women's Clubs at the Sheffield Methodist church, Wednesday, April 29.

Registration will be at 9:30 a. m., with the meeting opened at ten by the county president, Mrs. Walter H. Murphy, of Warren. Department chairmen will present their reports and talk of their plans for the coming months.

The afternoon session will start at 1:30 o'clock, with Mrs. B. T. Berry, of Franklin, vice president of the Northwest District, bringing an inspiring message. Mrs. Girdon McKillip, Jr., will play a violin solo, accompanied by Mrs. A. J. Scilly, and Mrs. A. C. Flick, Jr., will present "An Appreciation of Poetry."

There will also be round table discussion of the topic "Defense," led by A. M. Gibson, Edward Johnson, Henry Wuesthoff and Mrs. E. Pinkney Wroth. They will show how the defense program has been organized in Warren county.

A cordial invitation is extended to all clubwomen of the county to participate in this meeting and all are reminded that reservations for the 12:30 p. m. luncheon are to be made no later than Monday by calling Mrs. P. J. Finerty, Sheffield 223.

Secretary Of Boys' Work Here Resigns

The resignation of T. F. Eppley as boys' work secretary of the Warren Y. M. C. A. was announced today following a meeting of the board of directors of the association, held last evening.

Mr. Eppley has accepted a position as membership secretary of the Erie Y. M. C. A. and will take up his new duties on May 15, it was announced.

The popular young man has been in charge of boys' work at the local "Y" since September, 1940, having come here from Erie, where he was associated with the boys' department for eight years. His new position is a fine advancement and his friends wish him success in his new work.

Mrs. Eppley is going to Erie tomorrow and their household goods will be moved there next week.

THOMPSON-MILLER MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Claude P. Miller, of Irvine, that their daughter, Eleanor, became the bride of Robert V. Thompson, son of Mrs. R. Patch, of the same place, on April 18 in St. Luke's church, Father Edward Jacobs officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by Ruth and Louise Miller. Richard Klien, of Erie, was best man and ushers were Harold and Howard Thompson, of Irvine. Wedding music was by Rosemary Straub, accompanied by Mrs. Florence Messner, both from Erie.

The bride was gown in lace-trimmed white marquisette, fashioned with very full skirt and slight train. A pearl and orange blossom tiara held her double veil of illusion and her colonial bouquet was of gardenias and stephanotis. Her bridesmaids wore pink and blue marquisette frocks, sweetheart hats to match and carried colonial bouquets.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will reside in Youngsville when they return from a wedding trip.

PRESENTING DRAMA

The Youth Fellowship of Grace Methodist church is presenting the Biblical drama, "Simon the Sorcerer" by Marion Wefer, at the 7:30 service Sunday evening. The drama, under the direction of Miss Fern Mostert, portrays the transformation of Simon of Samaria from a sorcerer to a follower of Christ, with the following in the cast: Harold Knappenberger, Jr., Louise Eaton, Malcolm Young, Pauline Riquier, Khar McDonald, Louis Dalrymple, George Swanson, Arlyene McLaughlin and Evadna Hunter.

OBITUARY

ORVILLE J. EAMES

Orville J. Eames, 255 Pennsylvania avenue, west, who has owned and operated restaurants in this community for many years, passed away early this morning in the Warren General Hospital, following an illness of some months. He was admitted to the hospital on March 25.

Mr. Eames was born March 8, 1878, in Pittsfield township, but had come here as a young man and resided here since.

Besides his wife, Mary Davis Eames, he leaves one son, Merle; one sister, Mrs. Mattie Wedlock, and three grandchildren, Jean, Robert and Marilyn Eames, all of Warren; one sister-in-law, Sophia Eames, of Mayville, N. Y.; an uncle, Wilder Allen, of Franklin, and a cousin, Charles Allen, of Belmont, W. Va.

Removal has been made to the Peterson Funeral Home, where friends may call this evening and until the time of services at 2:30 p. m. Monday. Rev. Harold Knappenberger will officiate and interment will be made in Stillson Hill cemetery.

INFANT SULLIVAN

Gerald Sullivan, Jr., seven-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sullivan, of Youngsville, passed away Friday afternoon in the Warren General Hospital. Rev. C. M. McIntyre, pastor of the Youngsville United Brethren church, will conduct the committal service in the I. O. O. F. cemetery at Youngsville this afternoon.

Pledge Drive Rapidly Draws To Conclusion

The Pledge for Victory campaign in Warren and Forest counties is coming to a conclusion with the daily reports being received from air raid wardens and other workers.

Beginning Monday, pledge books will be placed in all three of the Warren banks so that those persons who may have been out of town at the time or otherwise were not reached by air raid wardens, may come into the banks and sign the Pledge for Victory. It is necessary that someone in the home sign a Pledge for Victory in order to have a Minute Man window emblem for that home, even though they may be participating in a pay roll deduction plan where employed, or buying War Bonds in some other way.

The goal is to inform the Government just how much is now being purchased now and what can be expected in the future from Warren and Forest counties in the purchase of War Savings Bonds and Stamps.

HIKE PICNIC AT LANDER

The Allegheny Hiking Club will have a combined hike and picnic tomorrow afternoon as guests of Preston Thomas at his home near Lander. The group will meet at General Joseph Warren Park at 2:15 p. m. and drive to Lander, where one of several hikes in that vicinity will be conducted by Mr. Thomas. Everyone is to bring his own pocket lunch; coffee, cream and sugar will be served by a committee. Those planning to attend are asked to telephone 1024-R or 848 before 7 p. m. today.

TO TARENTUM

Local friends of G. E. Engstrom, of Johnsonburg, will be interested to learn that he was elected superintendent of public schools at Tarentum last night by the Tarentum school board, replacing A. D. Endsley who retires June 1 after 42 years of consecutive service, the past 37 as superintendent. Engstrom, now school superintendent at Johnsonburg, went there as a high school teacher 13 years ago after teaching at his home town of Kane. He is a graduate of Allegheny College at Meadville and did graduate work at Pennsylvania State College. Mrs. Engstrom is the former Florence Thurston, of Warren.

Youngsville Pupil Takes First Place

According to an Associated Press dispatch from Bloomsburg today, Vernon Jones, who is to be one of the soloists in the Youngsville High School Orchestra's spring concert Monday night, took first place Friday for piano soloists in the 15th annual competition of the Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League. Another soloist for Monday's concert, to be given at 8:15 p. m. in the school auditorium, will be George Walter, who was entered in the clarinet solo competition. He will be paired, also, with Ruth Simonsen in a clarinet duet. There is no admission charge for the concert, to which the public is cordially invited by the young musicians and their director, Byron Swanson.

Program numbers for the orchestra will include the following: American National Airs arranged by Zamecnik, andante from Haydn's Surprise Symphony and Schumann's Slumber Song, in one group; the minuetto from Mozart's E Flat Symphony and the adagio from Beethoven's Sonata Pathetique, group two; Minuet by Mozart, Tales from The Vienna Woods by Strauss and Over the Waves arranged by Seredy for the final offering.

MAY NEED OLDER MEN YET

It is interesting to note that of the men who will be called upon to register Monday a majority will be made up of those who took part in the last World War. It is quite significant that most of the fellows who served their country 25 years ago are ready to "do their bit" again if Uncle Sam has need of them.

Age, for the most part, will be against them, so it is pointed out, but Warren fellows who were in the service in 1917-18 come back with the rejoinder that the greatest military figure this war has developed is far older than any of them.

He is General Douglas MacArthur, defender of Bataan, and now supreme military commander of the United Nations in their Pacific operation. He is 62. The outstanding German leader in the last war was Von Hindenburg, who was over 70 when called out of retirement, and placed in command of the kaiser's troops. Marshal Foch was over 70 when he was named chief of the Allied forces.

In spite of statements appearing to the contrary, it is not at all unlikely that many World War veterans in Warren, as well as throughout the country, will be summoned into service following Monday's registration.

FREE HAIRCUTS

Publicity made short work of the recalcitrance of a New York barbers' union, which picketed a shop for offering 35-cent haircuts and 20-cent shaves to men in uniforms. (The union scale for haircut and shave is 75 cents.)

Within 24 hours after an afternoon paper told the story, with illustrations, service men were getting free tonsorial treatment in the shop at the union's expense. The master barber isn't cutting prices now to anybody. Obviously his establishment is getting a lot of valuable free advertising. The C. I. O. local which objected has been made to look very petty, notwithstanding its grandiloquent second guess.

Go to church tomorrow. In addition to the usual religious inspiration you'll hear a high school student explain why the Community Chest campaign must succeed.

All members of all campaign divisions of the Chest drive are reminded to be on hand promptly at eight o'clock Monday at the Y. W. C. A. for the "Early Bird Breakfast."

And if you go into the forests over the week-end, for goodness sake be careful!

There'll be music galore at the Beaty building tonight. You're invited in case you are interested.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

"MAN'S MOST COMMON SIN"

Rev. A. G. Meade, Clarendon Evangelical Church

But John took no heed to walk in the law of the Lord God of Israel—2 Kings 10:31.

It is a very common thing for man to sin, "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." We may not like to think we are sinners but God's Word says we are. There are many sins that are common among men today, such as lying, stealing, profanity, adultery, drunkenness and even murder. Our text says "John took no heed"—he was heedless—heedlessness is brother to indifference, and indifference is brother to neglect. And neglect is man's most common sin.

Many people have gone to an early grave because of their neglect of health. They knew there was something wrong, they felt those pains yet they neglected to do anything about it, and disease was victorious. Many a man has looked upon the ashes of what was one his home or place of business and finds himself a pauper because he neglected to insure.

Sad as it may be to see one go to a premature grave because of neglect, or to see a man lose all of his earthly possessions because he has neglected to provide security, how infinitely more sad to look upon one who comes to the end of his earthly life having done nothing to provide for the hereafter. God's Word warns "Boast not thyself of tomorrow for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth," and "It is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment."

I do not believe there are very many who have not given some thought about how provision has been made so they may be saved from sin and have a hope for the life that is to come.

There are many who intend to do the thing that will give them assurance of a happy end.

Yet sad to say day after day goes by, month after month, year after year, and still they neglect.

Finally death comes and they are lost not because they have sinned, but because they have neglected.

Dear one, will you not stop neglecting and say an eternal yes to Jesus and let Him come into your heart now.

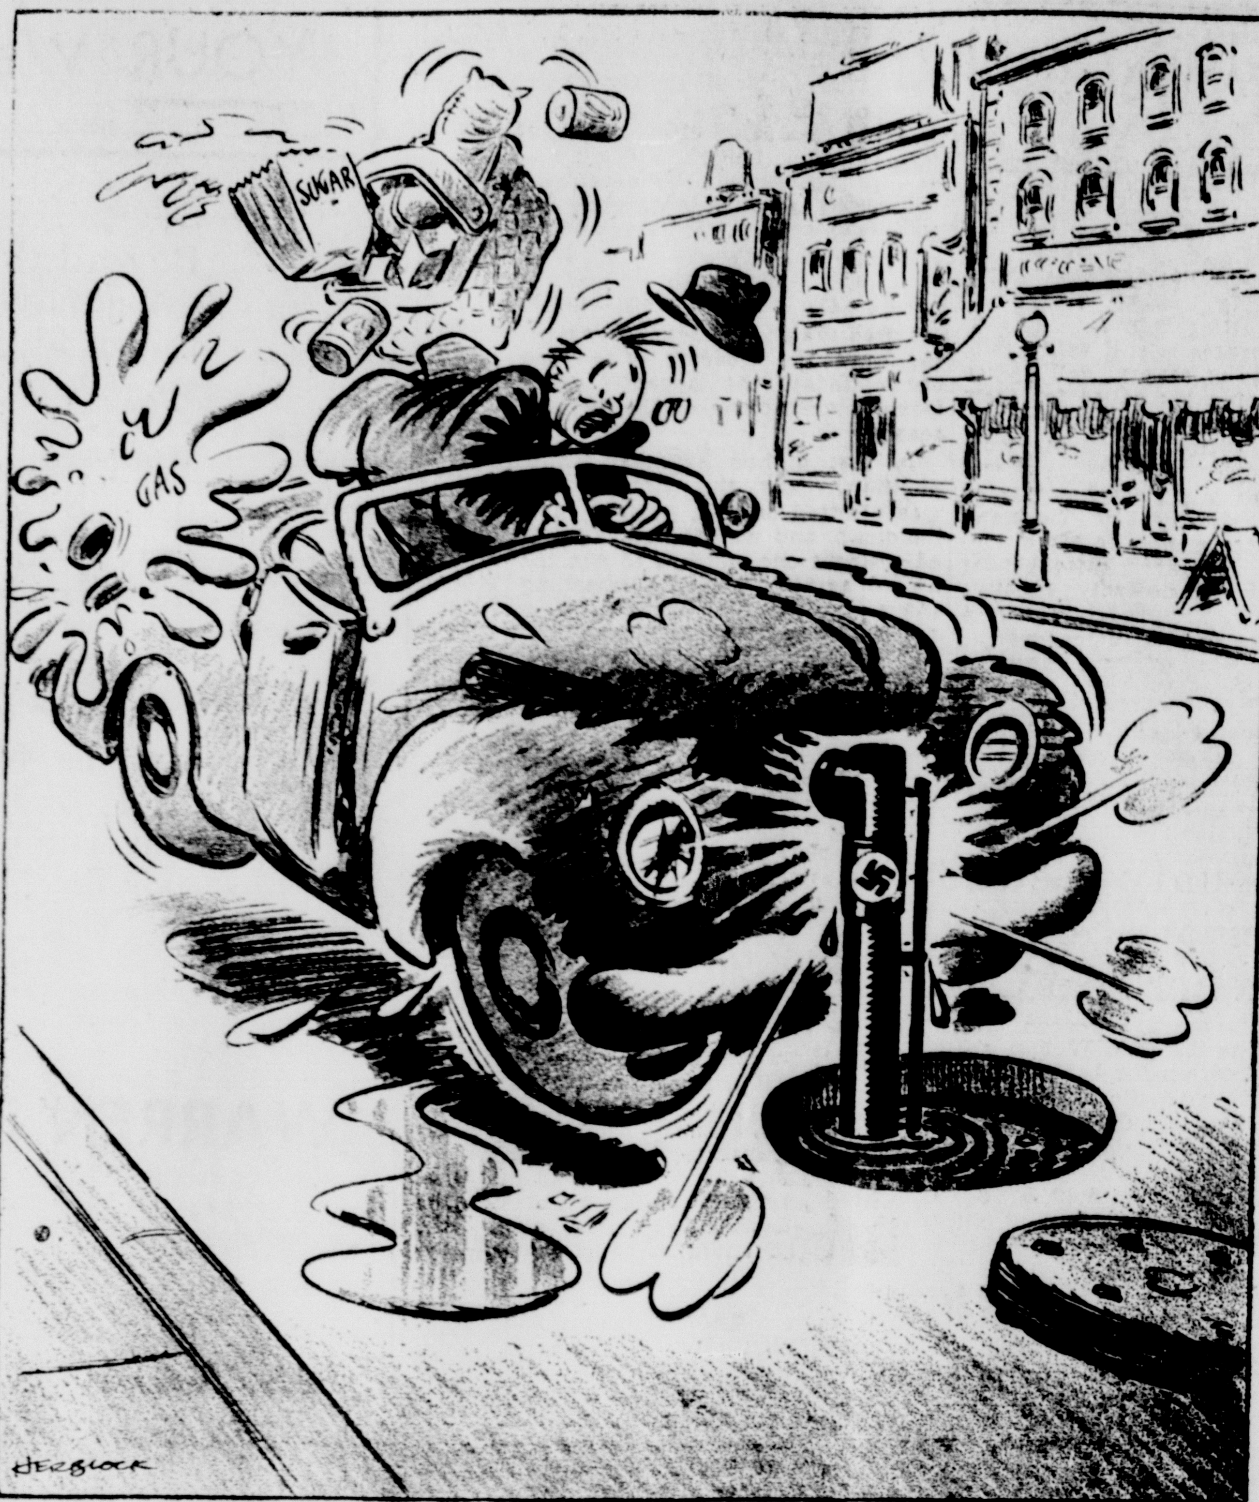

O Eternal God help each one to see their need and stop neglecting their eternal welfare. Amen.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—The capital in wartime:

Opening day of the American league baseball season was a sad occasion for Washington fans (Yankees 7, Senators goose egg), but there was one sight that was well worth the price of admission.

It was Vice-President Wallace throwing out the first ball. Mr. Wallace was a last-minute substitute for President Roosevelt, who explained that "war and work" would keep him away from the diamond for the first opening day since he has been in Washington.

"GET back," Mr. Wallace shouted to the players gathered eagerly around the Presidential box, like bridesmaids waiting starchy-eyed to catch the bouquet. None did. None, that is, except Buddy Hassett, a Yankee utility infielder. Hassett stood far out towards second base, absent-mindedly shifting his weight first on one foot and then the other.

The Vice President let fly. Far out over the mass of hopping players the ball arched—out towards second base. And Hassett snatched it.

The face of Alex Carrasquel, Clark Griffith's Venezuelan importation, fell an inch, possibly two inches. His last feverish cry of "Peech eet to me!" died on his lips. With the rest of the players, he trotted back to the field. What he and the rest had forgotten was that Mr. Wallace throws a boom-crang in his spare time, and has developed quite a wing.

Hassett wasn't hip to the boom-crang angle either. "I figured either I'd get it or I wouldn't get it," he explained simply. "I didn't see any sense in getting caught in the middle of that mob."

HERE are a couple of items I picked up over at the Treasury Department press room the other day—not big enough to get on the wires but they give you an idea of the kind of little things that go on.

Item No. 1 was about a counterfeit arrested in Mobile, Ala. The Secret Service discovered some ink stains on his trousers and found it was the same kind of ink as was used on the counterfeit bills the man was accused of making.

Confronted with this evidence, the man confessed that he had engraved the phony plates on sheets of lead with an ice pick.

And the bills were pretty fair imitations.

Item No. 2 was about the Virginia woman who apparently had forgotten we've had two wars since the late difficulty between the North and South.

She wrote in to the Treasury Department to complain because some war bond literature contained a quotation from Abraham Lincoln.

the pigs at the feeding trough, and an old sow bit his left hand so severely that the nerves in his fingers became paralyzed. That just about ended his musical career, until his father said, "What's the matter with shifting that fiddle to the other side of your chin and using your right hand?" It worked out fine, and that's the reason Johnny is a port-sider today.

HERE's something to remember about soldiers. . . If a captain and a lieutenant walk down the street, the lieutenant is always supposed to walk on the left hand side. . . The ranking man always keeps to the right. . . In the matter of insignia, silver outranks gold. . . If a man wears a single gold bar, he's a second lieutenant. . . If he wears a silver bar, he's a first. . . Similarly, if he wears a gold leaf, he's a major, but if the leaf is silver, he's a lieutenant-colonel.

HERE's something to remember about buses in New York. . . Those on Fifth Avenue cost a dime, but all others are only five cents. . . The Fifth Avenue buses are double-deckers and are prime favorites with lovers and fresh air fiends who like to sit in the open sunshine while jolting down the avenue. . . However, it's worth it, but a Fifth Avenue bus ride on a summer afternoon or night is one of New York's finest adventures. . . They offer a sort of splendid isolation in a crowded world. . . On them people kiss, read novels, sew for the Red Cross, and catch up on their sleep.

Associated Press Sport Writer
When Bob Feller enlisted in the navy last winter everybody agreed, more or less, that the Indians had lost their whole ball club, a fine tribute to the great pitcher, and, at that time, an honest and sincere appraisal of the Cleveland team.
But today the standings show the Tribe boldly camped behind New York Yankees, in second place, only one game between them and the top listing. They've won six in a row, and have had sensational pitching to date.
Yesterday old Mel Harder, who apparently was washed up a year ago and was handed his outright release only to get back into harness this spring at the request of young Lou Boudreau, pitched a four-hit 2-0 shutout against the St. Louis Browns.
The Yankees helped Cleveland attain undisputed possession of second place by rallying for seven runs in the ninth to beat the Boston Red Sox, 8-5.
Phil Marchildon pitched a four-hit game to lead the Philadelphia Athletics to a 7-2 triumph over the Washington Senators.
However, four-hit pitching was not good enough to get Edgar Smith and the Chicago White Sox a victory over Detroit. The Tigers won 2-1 with all the scoring in home runs.
Four-hit pitching was not good enough to win for the Boston Braves, either, against the New York Giants. One of the hits was a two-run homer by Rookie Willard Marshall and the Giants won 3-1 on the eight-hit work of Cliff Melton to move into second place.
The Phils, all people, broke up a five-game winning streak for the Philadelphia Dodgers. Frank Horst held the Dodgers to five hits while Danny Litwiler made four, including a two-run homer, and Ben Warren singled with the bases loaded in an 11-hit attack that whipped Kirby Higbe, 4-2.
Cincinnati found two four-run rallies better than one five-run flurry by Pittsburgh and beat the Pirates, 9-5. Frank McCormick drove in five runs with a homer and a double.
The Chicago Cubs chased Howard Pollet with three runs on two hits, two walks and an error in the first inning and stopped the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3.

SPORT SPATTERINGS

In their first three-game series, the Pittsburgh Pirates won each of them, two games to one for the opposition, but at no time did they win more than two in a row. However, only once did they drop two in succession. Bob Elliott has been so impressive at third base, Frisch and the Bucco coaches are kicking themselves for not converting him to an infielder before. His hitting thus far has also been superb. The typical weakness of the Pirates is still with them, however, and probably will mean the difference of several ball games being won or lost this summer. Already being the cause for their dropping two contests, the nemesis they can't overcome of falling down in a clutch with the sacks filled has the entire club plenty worried. Rip Sewell is expected to come in under the wire next fall with 18 to 25 victories on his slate. But so much for the Pirates. Out of that flock of 22 K. of C. bowlers who went to Cleveland this morning for the annual Casey tourney, there should be some winners when they board the home bound flyer. Harry Bittenbender hopes to escape a big hurdle by a simple, yet expectedly effective little scheme, to keep pin-setters working, and it will certainly be a blessing for bowlers. Bittenbender plans to work a bonus system, the stickers to get an additional amount of money just for doing their job quietly and efficiently.

Ed Hasler has his "V" tennis courts well cleaned and will apply the finishing touches the first of the week. Instead of using tape boundary lines this year, Hasler will use wet lime. A very good idea. He may have a spring warmup tournament if the sun continues to shine, early in May. This, however, isn't definite. But the city-wide tourney probably will be run off again this year. "Rabbit" Swanson ought to have a competent bunch of ball players for his Hospital nine this summer, with several holdovers and some classy newcomers working out. Four high school teams have been organized to play in a school loop this spring, and one "variety" combination may take on county foes—that is, as long as we have gasoline! Clean High had to cancel its early season grid contest with Cornish slated for the first week in September because of the new practice rule. It states that no games may be played until a team has three weeks of drilling. The last week in August is the earliest any New York state school can draw equipment. Joe DiMaggio's second home run this year was his 200th in the major leagues. He hit it Tuesday of the past week. Well, Jepson, grab the club and let's head for the links. Or haven't we any golf balls?

Warren Pistol Team Takes Four Awards

Four of ten medals awarded went to Warren last night, the other six remaining in Jamestown, as the two pistol teams shot their final match of the season on the Jamestown range.
The Jimmies outclassed Warren 1236 to 1212 as neither team was especially impressive, and Ken Hedstrom copped individual honors for the hosts with 260.
Paul Yagge, Bert Werlin and Johnny Schuler finished in that order to claim first three places in the expert class, but the only other award garnered by the locals was third place in the marikman class, taken by Mrs. Johnny Schuler.
An exhibit featuring the development of the anti-tuberculosis campaign, the oldest and most widely organized voluntary campaign against a single disease, will be an event of the meetings of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society and the National Tuberculosis Association in Philadelphia, May 6 to 9.

Roosevelt in 1941. Other displays will include physicians' instruments of historical interest. The exhibit of the National Association is held in connection with a similar exhibit by the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society.

TRIBE TO PLAY IN ERIE ON JULY 8TH

Cleveland, April 25.—(P)—The Cleveland Indians announced yesterday arrangements for an exhibition game Wednesday, July 8, at Erie against the Pennsylvania State League club for benefit of the Army and Navy cigarette fund. The game is the day after the major league's two all-star contests in New York and Cleveland.
Tickets are on sale at the Y. M. C. A. now, and also youths participating in the Gymkhana have the tickets. Seats are still available, but ticket sales are reported to be ahead of recent years.

Walsh-Harvey Annex Ladies 'Cap Doubles Title With Big Score

Two of the town's better bowlers, Red Walsh and Jeannette Harvey, were the wearers of a new crown today, the Arcade Ladies Doubles champions of the 1941-42 season.
In last night's handicap affair at the Arcade, the winning pair was allotted only 51 pins as their handicap, and wouldn't have needed a single one of them to win the award as they posted a smashing 949 actual score, rating a 1000 on the final scoresheet, handicap added.
Mrs. Walsh set the pace with a six-pin handicap and games of 200-187-159 for a total of 546 while Mrs. Harvey came in under the with 459, handicap included, a supporting score large enough to bring them the honors with pins to boot.
Vicki Nelson and Mrs. Rossman finished in second place with a 983 aggregate, but their handicap of 105 pins skyrocketed their score.
The remaining first five places were taken in order by Reynolds and Boyle, 971; Thiele and Johnson, 962; fourth, and Carlson and Paterson, Graham and McDowell finishing in a tie for fifth with 934.
Other scores, out of the placing, were as follows: Lavery and Coyle, 897; Smith and Grinnell, 852; Linck and Hand, 823; Kierman and Printz, 933; Culbertson and Benner, 927; Julian and Laubenberg, 924.
All of those scores include the handicaps, which ranged from 12 pins for Mrs. Hand and Emma Linck, to 177 pins spotted Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Boyle, pair finishing third.
Twelve pairs participated in a highly successful tournament, and keen competition was provided as they vied for the top places.

Secret Orders

Chapter 15
At the Bridge
"Stevie, darling, I'm going to join the Red Cross," Vicki announced at the breakfast table the next morning. "Do you suppose I'll get one of those snappy uniforms like you wear?"
Stephanie smiled at her cousin. "You can have your uniform tailored at Chez Monteuil if you want to pay the price."
"That's a marvelous idea. I think I will. And it's going to be such fun really doing something."
But by the end of the week, Vicki had decided it wasn't fun at all to spend tedious hours making sandwiches, packing them, and then, "I've made," she groaned, "I certainly didn't expect to spend my time slicing cheese and baloney. I'll never see another sandwich, if I'm perfectly happy."
Stephanie shook her head. "Somebody has to do it. Look, we still haven't enough for the 10 o'clock canteen. And she attacked another stack of bread vigorously.
The door behind her opened and Vicki, drooping in a chair, suddenly came to life.
"Why, Henri, darling. What- ever are you doing here?"
Stephanie glanced up, noticed for the dozenth time how very good-looking Vicki was, and said, "I am looking for two charming young ladies who, I hope, will have dinner with me," he said looking from one to the other.
"What a break!" Vicki jumped up, straightened her very smartly tailored coat. "Of course we'll go."
But Stephanie shook her head. "Can't, Henri. Too much to do here."
"Oh, come now," he urged. "Surely you can't be expected to work all the time."
"I should say not. Don't be a drudge, Steve. Come on."
But Stephanie insisted and Vicki, clinging to Henri's arm, parking with more enthusiasm than she had shown all week.
She forgot about them for the next few busy hours. And at ten when it was time to take out the canteen, she drove the station wagon herself up a back street to an annex, north to the bridge approach.
She stopped the car at the point beyond which civilians were forbidden to go, blinked her lights by way of signal to the sentry. While she waited, she relaxed, resting her head wearily against the steering wheel. She wished the sentry would hurry.
In a few moments she blinked the car lights again. Still no response. Finally, she honked the horn, two short, sharp blasts. Again—no answer.
Tragedy
INSTANTLY, apprehension took hold of her. Something was wrong. There was a sentry on duty here all hours of the day and night. Besides, he would be expecting her.
She stepped quickly out of the car and, quite well aware that she was on forbidden ground, ran up the embankment to the wide cement bulwark that held back the black, sucking waters of the bay. She could hear the splash of the water, but she blinked the curtain of fog shut off vision of everything save the narrow walk under her feet. She shuddered, realizing that it would take only one misstep to plunge her into icy water. Then suddenly a gust of wind from the ocean pushed back part of the fog for an instant. She saw the sentry, a cloud closed in again. Stephanie saw or thought she saw—a small boat. But it disappeared again before she could be sure.
"Halloa there! It's the canteen!" she called, moving cautiously along the cement wall.
Fear dogged her every step and her heart hammered thunderously. When, a moment later, she the luminous bulk of Aunt Allison's town car.

Guy chuckled. "Be! At got the jitters over that blackout we had. Something like that would scare her stiff."
"Certainly we were frightened, Guy," Allison admitted a few moments later as, trailing an extravagantly luxurious negligee, she met them at the door of the stair-case. "And for Victoria's sake as well as my own we decided the only sane thing for us to do was to come here with you until this ghastly business is over."
Guy grinned, patted her shoulder. "Glad you did. And I hope you brought your other shirt because I've an idea this 'ghastly business' is going to last a spell."
"Oh, it can't possibly. It's unthinkable!"
It was unthinkable, Stephanie agreed silently as she undressed in the dark to avoid waking Vicki in the other twin bed. But it was perfectly possible that the thing which couldn't possibly happen here was happening! Shuddering, she remembered the shock of that car, that wig-wagging flashlight, the sound of pursuing gun shots. And if the police didn't locate that car—since they probably couldn't—neither she nor Guy had been able to give much description—then another attempt was only a matter of time.
"Hello, Stevie, darling," Vicki murmured sleepily, stirring like a lazy kitten. "Where've you been?"
"Just up to Titan with Dad," and decided against telling Vicki the rest of the story. No use adding to her fears.
"Hope you don't mind our barging in like this,"—around a pretty little wisp.
"Certainly not. It'll be fun having you here."
Bad News
"Oh, Stevie, have you heard about Kurt's squad?"
Vicki raised on one elbow.
Stephanie felt her heart stop to listen. "No—what?"
"Ten of the boys were killed. They got word at the field yesterday. Isn't that ghastly?"
For an eternity, she didn't dare ask. Then—"Kurt's badly wounded. Listed among the casualties," she said. Of course that doesn't tell you much. He might even be dead. Too many terrible blunders about reporting these things you know. I just can't hardly believe it. Can you?"
Stephanie could only shake her head.
"Of course hundreds of the flyers were in those barracks. I suppose lots of them were boys we've met from the field. It just doesn't seem possible. And most of them were so terribly good-looking, too."
Stop! Stop! Stephanie's heart screamed. "He's dead! He's dead! Not Kurt! That virile blue flame of his courage. That tall-standing strength of his young body!"
"Goodness, you're cold-blooded," Vicki interrupted, cuddling down into her bed again. "You might at least say you're sorry even if you didn't go much for Kurt."
"I am—terribly—sorry," she murmured in a voice that sounded amazingly like her own.
"Well, so am I. Goodnight, now."
"Goodnight,"—automatically, and snapping off the light, Stephanie slipped into bed. But even in the darkness she could see his face clearly. Blue eyes smiling, strong jaw, generous mouth, head thrown back as if he were constantly searching horizons. Where was he now?
For awhile, she lay frozen in the grip of her imagination, her slim body shivering convulsively. Then finally young vitality reasserted itself in the depths of her pillow and helped her stand the shock.
And when, hours later, a full moon appeared from behind clouds, she slipped quietly out of bed, crept to the window. Then, cheek resting against the sill, she tried to believe that Kurt was still alive, that somehow, someday she would see him again.

Secret Orders

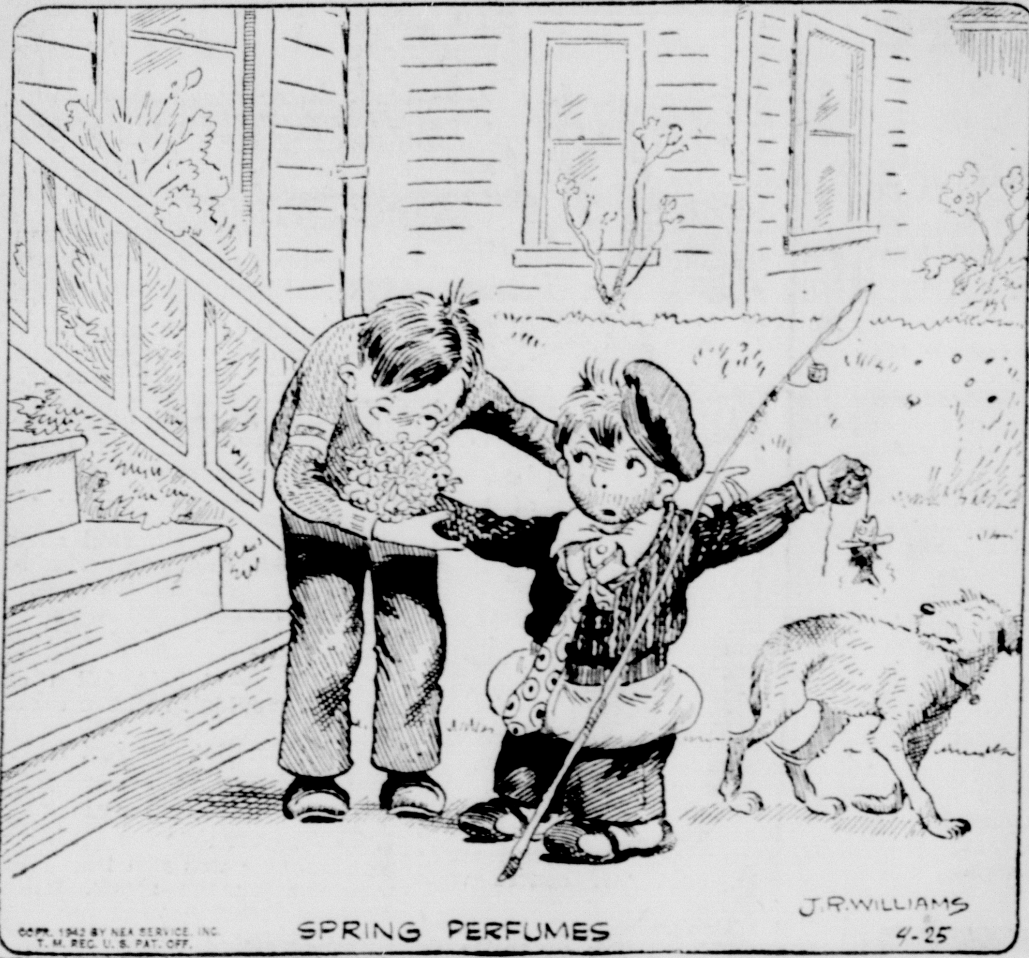

Chapter 15
At the Bridge
"Stevie, darling, I'm going to join the Red Cross," Vicki announced at the breakfast table the next morning. "Do you suppose I'll get one of those snappy uniforms like you wear?"
Stephanie smiled at her cousin. "You can have your uniform tailored at Chez Monteuil if you want to pay the price."
"That's a marvelous idea. I think I will. And it's going to be such fun really doing something."
But by the end of the week, Vicki had decided it wasn't fun at all to spend tedious hours making sandwiches, packing them, and then, "I've made," she groaned, "I certainly didn't expect to spend my time slicing cheese and baloney. I'll never see another sandwich, if I'm perfectly happy."
Stephanie shook her head. "Somebody has to do it. Look, we still haven't enough for the 10 o'clock canteen. And she attacked another stack of bread vigorously.
The door behind her opened and Vicki, drooping in a chair, suddenly came to life.
"Why, Henri, darling. What- ever are you doing here?"
Stephanie glanced up, noticed for the dozenth time how very good-looking Vicki was, and said, "I am looking for two charming young ladies who, I hope, will have dinner with me," he said looking from one to the other.
"What a break!" Vicki jumped up, straightened her very smartly tailored coat. "Of course we'll go."
But Stephanie shook her head. "Can't, Henri. Too much to do here."
"Oh, come now," he urged. "Surely you can't be expected to work all the time."
"I should say not. Don't be a drudge, Steve. Come on."
But Stephanie insisted and Vicki, clinging to Henri's arm, parking with more enthusiasm than she had shown all week.
She forgot about them for the next few busy hours. And at ten when it was time to take out the canteen, she drove the station wagon herself up a back street to an annex, north to the bridge approach.
She stopped the car at the point beyond which civilians were forbidden to go, blinked her lights by way of signal to the sentry. While she waited, she relaxed, resting her head wearily against the steering wheel. She wished the sentry would hurry.
In a few moments she blinked the car lights again. Still no response. Finally, she honked the horn, two short, sharp blasts. Again—no answer.
Tragedy
INSTANTLY, apprehension took hold of her. Something was wrong. There was a sentry on duty here all hours of the day and night. Besides, he would be expecting her.
She stepped quickly out of the car and, quite well aware that she was on forbidden ground, ran up the embankment to the wide cement bulwark that held back the black, sucking waters of the bay. She could hear the splash of the water, but she blinked the curtain of fog shut off vision of everything save the narrow walk under her feet. She shuddered, realizing that it would take only one misstep to plunge her into icy water. Then suddenly a gust of wind from the ocean pushed back part of the fog for an instant. She saw the sentry, a cloud closed in again. Stephanie saw or thought she saw—a small boat. But it disappeared again before she could be sure.
"Halloa there! It's the canteen!" she called, moving cautiously along the cement wall.
Fear dogged her every step and her heart hammered thunderously. When, a moment later, she

Grange Notes

VALLEY MEETING

The regular meeting of Valley Grange was held April 22 with Master Paul Moravsek presiding and the charter draped in memory of Mrs. Eric Carlson, who died recently. Leo Johnson, Pomona master, was present from Youngsville, with Mrs. Johnson and aided in a discussion of the Pomona session to be held in Sugar Grove High School gym on May 7. It was decided to postpone the next meeting to May 15 and to have the master represent Valley unit in a falling bee at Pomona.

The lecturer presented the following program: Readings, Maude Eckdahl and Paul Moravsek; song, Ruby and Marian; sword; discussion, does it pay to keep a small flock of chickens as a sideline?; imitation of three farm animals by each member.

OBITUARY
JOHN C. BOYD
 John C. Boyd, 81, of Guys Mills, father of Orison F. Boyd, 101 East street, this city, passed away this morning at his home. Mr. Boyd suffered a stroke about four weeks ago and his health failed thereafter.

Removal was made to the Ward Funeral Home in Meadville, remains to be returned to the family home tomorrow where friends may call any time after noon until the funeral services Monday.

TAX COLLECTOR DIES
 Funeral services will be held Monday for James L. Cunningham, 64, of Custer City, assessor and tax collector for Bradford township for the past 12 years. He died Friday.

MANY AT STATION
 There was a huge crowd at the Pennsylvania Railroad station last evening when Warren's Selective Service contingent which went to Erie for final physical examination yesterday morning, passed through here on the eastbound train, en route to an induction station. Many of the men had telephoned their relatives after passing their examinations and practically all of them had parents and friends at the station last night to bid them farewell.

Boro School Employees In Payroll Plan

It was announced by Superintendent John G. Rossman today that the borough schools are 100 per cent in regard to pay roll deductions from employees for the purchase of war savings bonds and stamps.

The response received after the suggestion was made to each of the eight schools involved was enthusiastic and immediate. Only one part-time employee at the high school is not in with the general trend, and an additional member of the clerical staff.

Beatty, East, Home, Jefferson,
Lacy, McClintock and Seneca schools all are 100 per cent in the campaign.

South street, only school not included in this program, has had its own system for the purchasing of bonds and stamps and has operated under this system for some time. Being successful and getting unanimous cooperation, they have chosen to continue their own plan.

Superintendent Rossman has recommended that each of the schools consider the advisability of purchasing the blue emblem which signifies 100 per cent in the stamp buying program. Each banner costs $2.35, and the schools have been asked to contact R. W.
Mackay, payroll chairman, if an order is to be placed.

Juvenile Problems Are Considered At Meeting of Judges

Judge Allison D. Wade has returned from Pittsburgh, where he attended on Thursday a council of juvenile court judges of Pennsylvania, held for the purpose of discussing the various problems confronting juvenile courts in the state.

Leader of the discussions was Judge Schram, of Allegheny county, who is noted throughout the nation for his method of handling juvenile court cases.

The jurists visited the various training schools for juveniles in Allegheny county and conferred with the superintendents on their problems at a judicial clinic.

The meeting closed with a dinner at the William Penn Hotel, during which the visiting judges heard a number of interesting discussions on the juvenile delinquency problem.

CHURCH REVIVALS

UNITED BRETHREN
CAMPAIN CLOSURE
The evangelistic campaign now in progress at the First United Brethren church is scheduled to close on Sunday evening. The services, conducted nightly with the pastor, Rev. William G. Woodward, delivering the evangelistic messages and the Washingtons, radio gospel at the assisting, have been well attended and the visible re-
